

“COMMUNICATION SYSTEM MANAGEMENT” CLINICAL MODEL

Sanesco is a medical company specializing in an Integrative Medicine approach for practitioners to assess and address certain neurotransmitter and hormone imbalances associated with many chronic symptoms and acute conditions, as well as the support of wellness medicine. Our expertise lies in understanding HPA-T axis function, and the role it plays in the body's "Communication System" as a root cause of your patients' condition. Sanesco has developed a unique clinical model as a way to share this expertise, and to help practitioners improve their patients' health, and even help grow their practice.

We call this model "Communication System Management" (CSM). The protocols include non-invasive measurement of neurotransmitters and adrenal hormones, and non-drug therapeutic recommendations.

CSM is Sanesco's groundbreaking clinical model that addresses the common root causes of a broad spectrum of chronic symptoms and diseases. Whether utilized as a stand-alone treatment protocol or in tandem with other therapeutic options, use of the CSM model can significantly enhance the recovery process and minimize the likelihood of symptom recurrence.

The CSM clinical model benefits both patients and practitioners:

- It addresses the underlying cause of an ailment
- It is applicable to all patients, especially those with chronic illness
- It enhances the effectiveness of any allopathic, complementary or alternative protocol
- Patients feel better quickly
- Regular testing allows the therapeutic protocol to be monitored and fine-tuned for more rapid recovery
- Expense is controlled as the overall treatment period is reduced
- The patient/practitioner relationship is strengthened and sustained

The foundation of Sanesco's CSM model is a highly qualified multi-disciplinary team of researchers and practitioners. This diverse group is comprised of medical professionals who are leaders in their respective fields. Many maintain active private practices and understand first-hand the challenges faced by today's practitioners. Together they have developed this revolutionary clinical tool.

The CSM model reflects Sanesco's commitment to offer practitioners of integrative medicine the most advanced clinical tools available to assess and prevent the underlying cause(s) of disease, and to help position integrative medicine at the forefront of health care in the 21st century.